“Every gun that is made, every warship launched, every rocket fired, signifies in the final sense a theft from those who hunger and are not fed, those who are cold and are not clothed.”

—Dwight Eisenhower,
April 16, 1953

Since 2001, Maine taxpayers have spent $2.5 Billion for warmaking. Imagine how that money could be spent in Maine as our state's fiscal crisis worsens.

In poll after poll, the American people have said they want much more of their tax money spent on education, health care, jobs, the environment, affordable housing, and other basic needs. Yet over 50 cents of every tax dollar this year will be spent on current and past military expenses, leaving much less money for the real needs of Maine people.

REAL Security can only come from the respect of other peoples and countries for the United States, not from fear of our military.
